Sometimes valuable mass tort cases are hiding in your midst — you just need the right tools to bring them to light. The GrowPath application helps identify cases you may never have known about, and gives you tools to manage them more effectively.

Identify potential mass tort cases

While entering a note, a paralegal types the word “diabetes,” and is then prompted to see if the client took Invokana.

Mine past cases for new mass tort cases

Quickly and easily mine your current and past cases for potential mass torts cases with our powerful search tools.

If you wanted to look for 3M earplug cases, you could search for all cases that mention “hearing loss,” “deaf,” or “tinnitus,” and cross reference or email this list to check for military service.

Intake scores verify legitimate cases

Intake scores help your staff identify potential high-value mass tort cases and triage accordingly.

A paralegal begins a new intake for an Invokana case after being prompted by the Buzzword “diabetes.” The answers they receive will create a live intake score, signifying the case’s potential value and allowing them to triage accordingly.

See which marketing channels are bringing you the most mass tort cases and at the best ROI — drill down further by location, Nielsen DMA/TV market, or demographic.
